Mother charged in DUI accident that injured infant

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE

On Saturday, law enforcement officials charged 29-year-old Alycia Cripps with DUI and endangering a child while driving under the influence after a vehicle accident on Lower Bay Road, Hancock County Sheriff's Office Chief Deputy Don Bass said.

The accident was reported at 7:57 p.m. and occurred in the 5300 block of Lower Bay Road, Bass said.

"The truck left the road striking trees," he said. "Some witness followed the vehicle. During extrication of the driver, one of the witnesses discovered a 9-day-old infant in the car on the floor behind the driver's seat. The infant was in a seat but wasn't strapped in."

Both Cripps and the infant were transported to the hospital, Bass said.

After an investigation, officials determined Cripps' blood alcohol concentration level to be .159 percent, Bass said. In Mississippi, drivers receive a DUI charge if their blood alcohol concentration level is .08 per-

BHS student wins $4,500 scholarship at Arts in the Pass

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Last month, Bay High School senior and art student Grace Powell won a $4,500 scholarship at Art in the Pass.

"It was amazing, I never would have imagined it," Powell said. "This is definitely the biggest art win I've gotten."

Powell added that she's entered contests at Art in the Pass for the past four years.

"I've been working on my art since I was a child, but more seriously since middle school," she said.

Powell said the method she is most comfortable with is painting and drawing.

"I mostly do portraits, but I work a lot on faces," she said. "The challenge with it is working more with realism. It's one of the hardest things to paint. But, I like to challenge myself."

Powell said she entered two works into this year's Art in the Pass show: A drawing of an alligator and a self-portrait using diamonds and circles.

The self-portrait won the top prize.

Powell said the piece took her about three-to-four weeks to complete and she used acrylic paints.

Lauren Barnard is Powell's art teacher and Tarah Herbert is her digital media teacher. Both "have done a lot for me," Powell said.

"They really are the backbone with what I want to do with my life," she said.

After graduation, Powell will attend Loyola University in New Orleans where she plans to double major in art and film.

If she takes the art path, Powell said she would like to be a teacher. If she pursues film, she would like to go into post-production.

Powell said she is excited to move onto this next chapter in her life.

While is open to individual interpretation, Powell said she hopes people will see in her artwork the "imaginative and creative, something that you don't see in reality."

Other scholarship winners include Christy Brennan of Harrison Central High School;

Local Artist Takes You on a Bold Journey of "One Universe"

SEA COAST ECHO

An artist's inspiration comes from a variety of places yet it may take root in the recesses of the mind as a visual palette, often subconsciously, before any medium touches a canvas.

For Scharonne Herrington, his connection to music triggers a concept of bold colors so loud his paintings become a surreal experience for the viewer. This musical influence is so strong for Herrington that it can actually change the tone of the work if the rhythm changes exponentially. Herrington uses acrylic paint and an airbrush to take the viewer on a journey of bold color that flows with a certain amount of transparency. This journey might begin in an ocean environment drawing you along a bold path but it ends in outer space, with a powerful pull of planetary realism of rings and stars or you may be in a magical garden of vines moving along a path of piano keys on your way to the outer limits of the Universe. Each of Herrington's large works showcases an exciting visionary experience, according to Herrington, "of One Universe".

Herrington began his artistic experience at Bay High taking high school art. He remembers his first art experiences were with pen and pencils, but in 1995 his art class took on a huge mural of the Coke sign that is painted on the backside of the 220 Gallery, which is still on the building almost 25 years later. Yet it was Joseph Pearson, an airbrush artist, which brought Herrington where he is today. Pearson taught Herrington the fundamentals of airbrush art and after much practice Herrington has developed his portfolio of a bold, bigger than life body of work.

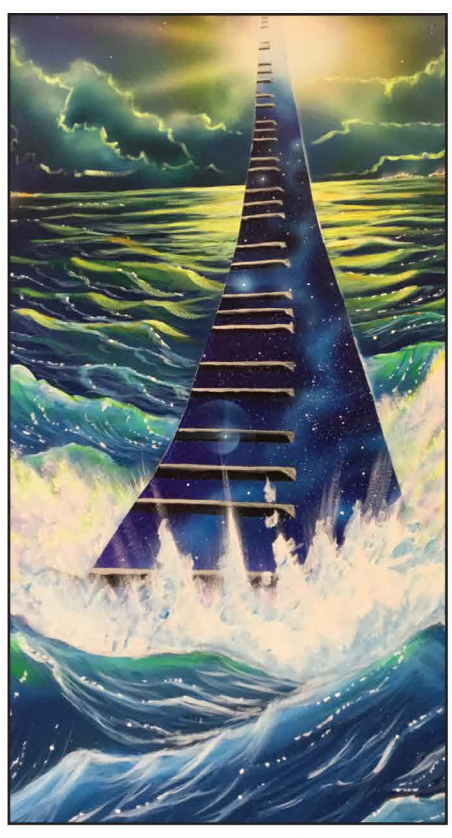
When Herrington isn't painting he enjoys video games and riding his bike in the Waveland area. This exhibit is sponsored by The Arts, Hancock County, in conjunction with Waveland City Hall and it is part of The Arts on Coleman Avenue. Herrington's paintings will hang until the end of May.



Some examples of Herrington's artwork.

Bay man arrested for stalking same woman he was convicted of stalking last year

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

Waveland police last week arrested a Bay St. Louis man already convicted of stalking a woman for allegedly stalking her again.

Officers on Tuesday charged Brandon Michael Witt, 34, with one count of stalking and one count of violation of a protective order.

Brandon Michael Witt

The arrest stemmed from an incident on April 7 when he saw the woman out in public and went up to talk to her. He had been convicted of stalking the same woman in March 2017.

The two apparently used to work together, police said.

As of Monday afternoon, Witt was still being held at the Hancock County Justice Facility on a $20,000 bond for one felony count of stalking; and an additional $1,000 for the violation of a protective order, a misdemeanor.

Hancock County communities designated as Opportunity Zones

SEA COAST ECHO

Two communities in Hancock County are among 100 Mississippi communities designated by the U.S. Department of Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service as Qualified Opportunity Zones. The designations are designed to spur economic growth by encouraging long-term investments in low-income and rural communities through Qualified Opportunity Funds.

Private investors can earn tax relief through investments made in an Opportunity Zone, and the tax benefits increase the longer the investments are in place.

"Opportunity Zones in Mississippi will attract significant private sector investment, help grow our state's economy and create new jobs," said Gov. Phil Bryant. "This program is another business advantage existing industries and new companies will find in our state."

Bill Cork, CEO of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, said, "The Opportunity Zone designation in Bay Saint Louis and Waveland is one tool that will really help us promote sustainable development, because the benefits to the investor in the Zone accrue over time and with patience. This tool helps align responsible investors with community objectives; and I hope that we see that play out as the program unfolds."

Blaine LaFontaine, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, said, "We are grateful not one, but two census tracts in Hancock County were selected for this opportunity. We hope that private investment and incentives will help provide long-term investments to decrease poverty and increase per capita incomes in our community."

The new community development program was established through the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017.

Census tracts with a poverty rate of 20 percent or greater, and/or family income of less than 80 percent of the area's median income were eligible for consideration. Mississippi has 399 eligible census tracts.

Hancock County's Opportunity Zones cover portions of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Mike Favre said, "With all of the amenities and incentives we already have in the Bay-Waveland area for business development, this is just one more program that can help us grow our economy."

Waveland Mayor Mike Smith said, "Waveland is very excited to be a part of the opportunity zone which offers tax relief to investors. It will be the shot in the arm that our community needs to spur development and create very needed jobs."

Glenn McCullough Jr., executive director of the Mississippi Development Authority, said global companies know the advantages of the state's productive workforce coupled with our superior business climate. "By adding Qualified Opportunity Zones, investing in Mississippi becomes an even more logical business decision for companies looking

Every family is a little bit different

I guess in every family, there are things that parents do that their children may find odd. My brother Raymond and I recently reminisced about some of the things our own parents did.

One was that our mother never allowed us to wear tennis shoes. As a matter of fact, to this day, neither Raymond nor I have ever worn tennis shoes.

Another oddity about our mother – none of her sons was ever allowed to wear blue jeans. Of course, in my later years, I have worn blue jeans on occasion, especially when I was working in the garden.

Once, when I my mother was living with Raymond and his wife, who has now also passed, I visited them and had paid no mind to he fact that I had on a pair of blue jeans, and my mother became unglued, to say the least. You have to understand that at that time, she was in her eighties and I was in my fifties.

I remember quite clearly from my military days, when my fellow soldiers found out I was from Mississippi, they would quiz me about whether we ever wore shoes when I was a child.

The answer was, of course we did. We always wore good shoes for church and school.

Since my brothers and I all attended St. Stanislaus Day School, we wore khaki pants and white shirts – and good shoes – to school every day. But, when we were children, we did run around barefooted a great deal of the time, and as a result, our feet became quite tough.

Sometimes one of us would step on a nail or a piece of glass, and out came the small bottle of turpentine, which was our Aunt Susie McCormick's remedy for everything. Aunt Susie took care of us during the day through World War II when our mother worked in the military garment factory in Gulfport. Our father stayed with his sister in the Rigolets most of the time, since he was one of the guards at the L&N Railroad's Rigolets Bridge. He only came home a few days a week. After the war, my cousin Doris Bernard Harvill lived only a few blocks from us – she is almost 90, now. She told me about a time when we were when it had been raining heavily and there was ice on the path from our house to hers, and ice on the standing water, and we just walked barefoot through it.

Somehow, we survived growing up in those conditions. Only the youngest of my brothers is no longer with us, and he lived to be almost 70.

Our mother lived to be 89 years old, while our father – our parents divorced while I was in the service – lived to be only 62.

Old Shelly in DeLisle

GUEST COLUMN

by Dan Ellis

During the early 1700s, colonial French voyagers and coureurs des bois had thoroughly explored St. Louis Bay and its tributaries. In the early 1800s, settlers began applying for land grants and building homes. Settlements were founded by Bartholomew Grelot and Philippe Saucier when they were given grants to the Wolf River area. Jean and Noel Jourdan and J.B. Nicaise resettled from the current Bay St. Louis area to Kiln/Jourdan River,

North Shore St. Louis Bay

The lands located at the far north end of the Bay were claimed early on by several people who referred to the area as "Shelly" or "Shell Beach" because of the many shells scattered about and having one very large Indian shell mound including smaller ones. Even after years of erosion, the large shell mound was reportedly 300-feet long, 60-feet wide, and 9-feet high. For many centuries Indians harvested oysters and fish from the coastal waters that created mounds that still exist throughout the northshore area.

Shelly Plantation

William Alexander Whitfield was born in North Carolina in 1817. He and his wife, Charity, moved to Mississippi in 1845. At first they managed the Bay Place in Shieldsborough which belonged to his brother, Benjamin Whitfield; then around 1850 they bought the Shell Bank Plantation. 500 feet back from the Bayshore they built their home which they called "Shelly," because it stood on the high shell bank that extended out in the Bay.

The Whitfields operated the plantation with the help of slaves until the Civil War, and thereafter with hired help.

On the grounds of the plantation were 5,000 orange trees, 400 Japanese persimmon trees, 150 scuppernong and other grape vines and 150 varieties of roses. The Whitfields sold fruit as far as New Orleans. The Whitfields were proud of their investment and invited the general public throughout the South to visit and admire the Shelly.

The house was exquisitely furnished, having silver goblets and mugs in use for service. Mrs. Whitfield was also proud of her organ which was brought in an ox cart from North Carolina to the Coast.

A beautiful penthouse garden rested on top of Shelly's cement roof where the flowers were watered by an artesian well located south of the house.

Mr. Whitfield, although a graduate of the Law School of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, preferred to sustain his devotion to Shelly Plantation. When his oldest daughter Rosabelle died he imported a marble angel from Italy and placed it at her grave. Mrs. Whitfield, and another daughter Irene, including several slaves were also buried at Shelly — but the grave markings, disappeared after the Whitfields moved away.

What happened to Shelly?

A possible reason for abandonment of the Farm was that there was a prolonged freeze in 1885 that destroyed most of the orange trees in the coastal area. A similar freeze in 1892 caused further damages burning the trees to the ground, thus ending the promising citrus industry.

One report stated that "after the plantation was abandoned by the owners, New Orleans schooners went there and carried away ton after ton of its shells because there was no one to say they couldn't or shouldn't."

The Sea Coast Echo, Saturday, May 17, 1924, reported that the plantation continued until 1924, when the land was purchased to build a luxury hotel — the Pine Hills Hotel and Golfing Lodge.

LETTERS to THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Across most of the US, states are struggling to quell a worsening opiate epidemic. While this is happening, one problem continues to rage on in states across the country.

NBC News reported on meth with some shocking results. Not only is meth, also known as ice, crank, speed, chalk and gak, the highly addictive and damaging drug is still a huge problem throughout the US According to the U.S. Sentencing Commission, in 2015 meth offenders made up the highest proportion of federal drug offenders in 27 states.

Meth has some of the most serious physical ramifications out of any drug. The damage can be lasting as well with the bodies of a meth addict still damaged even after methamphetamine rehabilitation. It can destroy a person's teeth, cause damage to the cardiovascular system and dramatically change a person's appearance.

Some signs of meth abuse include

- lack of sleep
- loss of weight
- tooth decay
- hyperactivity
- hallucinations

In the event you know of someone struggling with methamphetamine addiction, you should quickly get them into treatment.

Methamphetamines don't only take a toll on those who use them, but they have nasty effects on communities as well. When a house is used to create meth or even someone just uses meth in the house long-term damage can be created in that house presenting health risks for any later inhabitants. This is because when meth is created or used, the drug releases dangerous chemicals which are embed themselves in carpet, wood and even the walls.

Decontaminating a house can cost tens of thousands of dollars, so many times the house stays vacant or people end up living in it and dealing the health problems.

For now, it is unclear what long-term exposure is created for those living in meth-contaminated houses. It is however clear that children are most susceptible with the short-term effects including a headache, nausea and eye irritation.

There are things anyone can do to protect those they care about. If you witness a house you believe to be a meth lab or where meth is being used, you should contact law enforcement. In addition, if you move into a house and notice your loved ones starting to show exposure symptoms, you can have your houses tested for a relatively small fee.

Man sentenced for trafficking drugs

SEA COAST ECHO

A Texas man was sentenced this week to 20 years in prison for trafficking drugs through Mississippi.

District Attorney Joel Smith announced Tuesday that 33 year-old Eduardo Nino, a Texas native, pled guilty on Monday to possessing three kilograms of cocaine at the Harrison County Courthouse in Gulfport.

The investigation began on Nov. 28, 2016, Smith said in a press release, when the Mississippi Highway Patrol conducted a traffic stop on Interstate 10 near the DeLisle exit on Nino's car due to careless driving.

Nino told the officer he was tired and was looking for a place to pull over, Smith said.

"The defendant then agreed to allow the officer to search the car," Smith said.

"During the search of the car, three large packages of cocaine were found wrapped in black tape and hidden under the backseat," said ADA Alison Baker, who prosecuted the case. After discovering the illegal drugs, the Trooper requested the assistance of the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics in finalizing the investigation of the case and conducting an interview with the defendant, Baker said.

At his plea, the defendant admitted to Circuit Court Judge Lisa Dodson that he possessed the cocaine with the intention to distribute it, Smith said. After receiving the defendant's guilty plea, Judge Dodson sentenced him to 20 years to serve in prison. $1,837 in cash was also recovered during the arrest and was forfeited to the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, Smith said.

Police arrested a Bay St. Louis man on Sunday for allegedly ramming his truck through a gate at a Waveland business and stealing a boat.

The Waveland Police Department received a complaint of a boat being stolen from a local business, Chief David Allen said in a press release Monday.

"Upon being investigated, it was found that a white male driving a Dodge pickup truck had rammed open a gate at the business taking a 24' boat and motor, valued at approximately $73,000," Allen said. "Images from the theft were uploaded to the Waveland Police Department's Facebook page seeking the public's assistance in identifying the suspect.

"A few hours later the boat was recovered in an empty lot in Bay St. Louis. Due to the Facebook post, an anonymous tip later led officers to a Union St. home in Bay St. Louis where Mr. Don Vicknair, 59, of Bay St. Louis, was taken into custody for one count of Grand Larceny and one count of Felony Malicious Mischief."

Vicknair was transported to the the Hancock County Jail, where as of Monday afternoon, he was awaiting a bond to be set by Waveland Municipal Judge PJ Mauffray.

Investigator Matt Sekinger is in charge of the case, Allen said.

"We would like to thank the public for their help in identifying the suspect and his vehicle," Allen said.

• Bobby Payne, 48, of Bayside: Possession of Paraphernalia.

"Immediately following the search warrant on Jeff Davis Drive, agents proceeded to 7107 Sunflower Drive in Bayside in an attempt to serve an outstanding felony warrant on Shane Norton," Skinner said. "During the attempt to arrest Norton, agents observed illegal narcotics and paraphernalia throughout the residence. All persons on the scene were secured and a search warrant for that residence was obtained.

"During the search of the residence, agents located a subject, Devin Schwartz – who was wanted out of Waveland for felony burglaries – hiding behind a refrigerator."

Skinner said additional methamphetamine and paraphernalia were located inside the home. Agents arrested 10 people in that raid, Skinner said, including:

• Shane Norton, 40, of Bayside: Sale of a Controlled Substance, Possession of Paraphernalia, Resisting arrest.

"It seems that some people are just determined to continue doing drugs, selling drugs, and committing all sorts of other crimes, with no regard for the harm they are doing to themselves or the community," Sheriff Ricky Adam said in the release. "Those people need to understand that the agents and deputies of the Hancock County Sheriff's Office are every bit as determined to stop them. We will absolutely continue our offensive against illegal drugs and those who are responsible for bringing them into Hancock County. Hopefully, 17 people got that message Friday."

Artigues finding his swing at Tulane

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Former Saint Stanislaus College pitcher/infielder Jonathon Artigues (6', 184lbs) is finding his swing as a second baseman for the Tulane Green Wave in 2018.

Artigues currently is second on the team batting with a .300 average.

He has played in 41 games this year with 40 starts and leads the team in at-bats (160) and runs scored (36). He is second on the team with hits (48), doubles (12), RBIs (26) and also has a triple and two homeruns.

He is also second on the team in slugging percentage (.425), on-base percentage (.373) and total bases (68). He has drawn 13 walks and has stolen six bases in eight attempts.

Artigues' improved prowess at the plate in 2018 has come to the aid of the Green Wave on more than one occasion as Tulane currently sports a 19-22 overall record with a 6-6 mark in the American Athletic Conference.

On Tuesday, April 17th Artigues went 2-for-4 as the Green Wave came from behind to beat LSU 10-9 at Greer Field. Artigues smacked a three-run homerun that gave Tulane a 4-3 lead in the third inning and doubled home another run in the fourth inning. In the ninth inning, he drew a walk and later scored to knot the game at 9-9 in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Artigues' fielding hasn't been hurting either as he sports a .964 fielding percentage with 79 put-outs and 83 assists against just six errors.

All this is coming for the rangy infielder a year after he volunteered to play catcher for Tulane following a devastating injury to their every day catcher. While he will never have to suit up as a catcher again, Artigues is quick to point out that it is a move that helped him develop his game

In two seasons, the redshirt sophomore has been named to the American Athletic Conference All-Academic team twice.

Artigues earned three letters in baseball at SSC. He was All-Division 8-4A three consecutive times and was named to the second team Class 4A All-State team as a sophomore and a first team selection as a senior.

He went 12-1 on the mound in 2015 with a 1.12 ERA as he helped lead SSC to the Class 4A state title. He batted .397 as the Rocks went 29-5 en route to the title. He had five doubles, four triples and a homerun with 26 RBIs.

Artigues is the son of Nancy and Ronnie Artigues, Jr., of Bay St. Louis. Both are graduates of Tulane University. His mother is the former Nancy Gex, daughter of Nancy Gex and the late Lucien M. Gex, II. His father, Ronnie, is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Ronald Artigues, Sr., of Bay St. Louis.

Hancock hires Willis & Daniels to lead programs

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Hancock High School has hired Derrick Willis and Maggie Daniels to lead the boys basketball and girls soccer programs, respectively, for the 2018-19 school year.

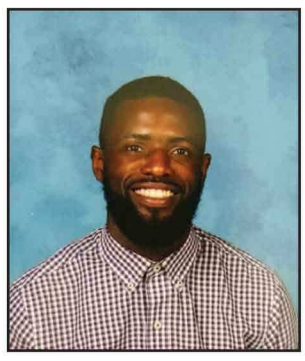
Willis is a graduate of Saint Stanislaus College and played for former head coach Jay Ladner. He most recently has been coaching under Owen Miller at Gulfport High School.

Willis commented on being named head coach, "This is a phenomenal opportunity to be given to lead a program that is rich in tradition such as Hancock High School. I am humbled and greatly appreciative to be given the chance to lead this program and work with these outstanding and hard working young men."

Hancock has been mired in the highly competitive Class 6A region with perennial powers Gulfport, Harrison Central and Biloxi. The Hawks finished 4-23 in 2018 under former head coach Charles Moore.

Willis added, "I have had the opportunity to see these young men up close over the past few years and during recent tryouts. What I see are hard working young men with raw mentality for what it takes to be successful in a big stage. This group is not lacking in leaders as they do it naturally but it just needs to be refined."

Willis played for former SSC head coach Jay Ladner who is now the head coach at Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond. Ladner commented on Willis, "I am extremely happy and excited and proud for Derrick Willis to be named Head Basketball



Derrick Willis

Maggie Daniels

Coach at Hancock High School. Hancock has one of the richest basketball traditions in the state of Mississippi. He will 'wake up the echoes' of the outstanding legacy and tradition of Roland Ladner and the many greats that played there."

Willis has been around great coaches and top notch programs. His desire is to create that at Hancock. Willis added, "Ultimately, we will do what our personnel dictates. However, I am a man-to-man guy on defense with the sophistication to do what we need to do to pressure the ball. Offensively, I want sets that allow everyone to touch the ball. I want to develop shooters so teams do not key on one player. Immediately, we want to get a lot better fast. But, our long term goal will be to get to Jackson and compete to raise a banner consistently."

Daniels comes to Hancock after serving on staff at Biloxi High School. She has grown up around soccer and played for perennial contender Madison Central in high school.

Following high school, she found her way to PRCC where she played on state title contenders for two years. She completed he degree at Mississippi State University.

Daniels commented on being hired, "I have grown up in Class 6A schools and my coaching has taken place at 6A schools. When this opportunity presented itself, I jumped on it. I am very appreciative to be give the opportunity to lead these young ladies."

Daniels recently held tryouts and came away surprised. She stated, "I knew that Hancock had talent but after this past week, I came away very happily surprised. We are a young team that is talented. It gives us an opportunity to build. The most important aspect of what we will do is determine what to do with our talent."

This past season the Lady Hawks finished with a 9-9-2 record but were winless in the division at 0-6.

Looking forward, Danield stated, "We will do well what the girls can do well and we will do it with enthusiasm."

Hancock High School athletic director Jamie Sisco stated, "We are excited to have Coach Derrick Willis and Coach Maggie Daniels on our staff at Hancock. We found exactly what we were looking for when we began the process to hire these two positions, and I cannot wait to see what the future holds for boys basketball and girls soccer at Hancock."

The Rocks jumped out to a commanding lead scoring five runs in each of the first two innings. SSC finished things off with six runs in the fourth inning.

Strong pitched a one-hitter and fanned five batters in the win. At the plate, Lafontaine and Shirley each tallied two hits. Bean smacked a three-run double and Shirley also had three RBIs. Rhodes, Fredrickson, Wolf, Corban O'Bannon, Garrett and Strong all added hits.

SSC head coach Mark Logan stated, "We played two of our best games this year in the playoffs. We were able to get some runs early on timely hits and put pressure on them. We ran the bases very well to score the runs we scored. When we were in the field, our pitchers threw effectively and let the defense do their jobs. In the playoffs, mistakes are amplified so we need to continue to play clean baseball. We face Purvis in the second round. They came out of a strong district so we will have to be mindful of how we play."

SSC (11-10) travels to Purvis on Friday night for a game one. They return home to hist game two on Saturday. See you at the games!

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club's third annual "Ripple in the Bay" fundraiser on Monday was an even bigger success than the group had hoped for.

"It was great!" club President Samantha Walley said. "We sold more meals then we had planned for. É We actually had to turn people away because we had so many people come in to eat. We prepped for 900 meals and we sold more than a thousand."

This year's feast -- billed as "One great meal flowing to three great causes" -- was prepared by William's Pit BBQ and the Starfish Cafe.

"The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club paid for all of the food, so 100 percent of the proceeds will benefit three great causes right here in our community," Walley said, "the Hancock County Food Pantry, Starfish Cafe and the Hancock Youth Leadership Academy."

Through the "pay it forward" feature of Ripple in the Bay, the event also delivered meals to local fire department and law enforcement officials, the Hancock County Senior Citizens Center, Brenda's House and home-bound and elderly people.

"We also served 125 meals at the King's Kitchen," Walley said.

"We want to give a special thanks to (Rotarians) Teri Velardi and Mike Hansen for coordinating, and our whole Rotary Club worked at it, and of course, the staff of Starfish Cafe. We also want to thank everybody in town who came and supported us and participated in the project."

Local artists earn first place at Art in the Pass

SEA COAST ECHO

Pass Christian, Miss., April 18, 2018 – Several local artists took first place prizes for their artwork at the 21st annual Art in the Pass fine arts and crafts festival held April 7 – 8 in Pass Christian.

Lisa Watson and Carol Ellis, both from Pass Christian, earned first place in pottery. Spencer Gray, Jr., a Pass Christian mixed media artist who also shows his work in Bay St. Louis, took first place in the "other" category. Gray earned the award for his whimsical assemblages that give new life to old tools, pans, spoons and other castoffs that he salvages from yard sales and flea markets.

"Spencer's imagination transforms common utilitarian things into playful creations. His alligator at the festival was a huge draw and brought smiles to everyone who saw it," said Betty Sparkman, chair of the event.

The other artists who were recognized at the festival are Tony Krysinsky, from Pensacola, Florida, who received first in mixed media; Louisiana jewelry designer Andrea Wilkes-Jones took first place in jewelry; Alexander Brown, a wood-working artist living in Bentonia, Mississippi, took first place in wood working; Louisiana artist Odie Tucker is our first place artist in painting.

Best in Show overall went to Mississippi photographer Randy Hall.

Now in its 21st year, Art in the Pass was created both to support art education and expand and enhance Pass Christian and Mississippi Gulf Coast's reputation as an arts-oriented community for artists and art lovers. Proceeds from Art in the Pass support art programs and scholarships on the Hancock and Harrison Counties.

This year, Art in the Pass awarded $12,000 in scholarships to high school seniors intending to pursue an art related major in college.

Art in the Pass also gave $750 each to seven high schools and will donate $3,000 to the Pass Christian School District and $1,000 to Boys and Girls clubs.

Coastal home and cottages on display for Pass Christian Historical Society's Home Tour and Garden Party scheduled for May 6

701 E Scenic - Keenan Main House Front

701 E Scenic - Keenan Guest cottage - small

SEA COAST ECHO

Pass Christian, Miss., April 9, 2018 – Visitors to this year's Pass Christian Historical Society's Home Tour and Garden Party will have a chance to enjoy both new and old coastal constructions while enjoying a garden party atmosphere on Sunday, May 6, from 2 to 5 p.m.

An impressive new interpretation of the coast's old vernacular style, located at 701 East Scenic Drive, was completed in 2015. The spacious home has seven glass-enclosed bays that create an open, sunny environment. An interesting facet of the home is that it was built with modern modular construction methods.

The property also holds an important reminder of old Pass Christian: two small 1840s cottages. One was featured in an 1895 travel guide and remarked on for its "old creole style." The other was originally slave quarters and today is affectionately known as "the chicken house" for its unique decorations.

During the party, Historical Society members will serve light refreshments including canapes, wine and tea, while a steel band entertains the visitors.

Advance tickets are $30 and are available:

· online at passhistory.org through midnight April 30;

· at the Cat Island Coffee House/Pass Christian Books (300 East Scenic); and

· beginning at 2 p.m. that Sunday, tickets may only be purchased at the home for $35.

Visitors are asked to please not wear spike heels in order to protect the flooring.

Chicken house

The aim of the Pass Christian Historical Society is to preserve and share the history of Pass Christian and the Gulf Coast.

This event is core to that mission, and it is also its largest fundraiser, helping to maintain operations throughout the year.

Internships give PRCC students real-world experience

PRCC Public Relations

POPLARVILLE - An internship program through Pearl River Community College has two students already seeing the benefits of the degrees they will soon receive.

Cierra Plaisance and Hannah Rester, both of Carriere, work part-time at the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission while finishing the requirements to complete the business management technology program.

"We started off as interns," Plaisance said. "Then they hired us as temporary employees."

The internship program is funded by the federal Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act through the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District.

Plaisance and Rester will receive their Associate in Applied Science degrees on May 11 and go back to work.

"They're actually going to keep us until June," Rester said. She is working as an administrative assistant while Plaisance is working with economic development marketing.

No permanent jobs are open right now but the women will be at the top of the list when one or more becomes available.

Both think the internship program is the only reason they already have real-world work experience in their field.

"We would probably still be working minimum wage jobs in a retail store," Rester said.

PRCC has two more students working as interns for NASA at the Stennis Space Center through the same program.

Alex Hernandez of Picayune works in human resources services processing forms for incoming employees.

"It's been a new experience," he said. "I'm used to basic jobs - I'm a server full time."

The job is teaching him new professional skills, he said.

"I'm learning life lessons, too," he said.

The internship lasts for 12 weeks, and Hernandez doesn't know if he will be hired when it ends.

"I think they've put enough time and resources into me that they'll hire me, but nothing's definite," he said.

Brittany McLaurin of Picayune also is working at NASA while in school. She also is working in human resources but is formatting and editing documents and assisting technical writers.
